

Problem

This life insurance company was in need of an actuary to assist with their increased modeling work. The organization's valuation team did not have enough qualified professionals to support cash flow testing needs.

Response

Jacobson provided a specialist with more than 20 years of actuarial expertise. This consultant was proficient in the MoSes software and multiple other similar platforms. He was also experienced with presenting results to actuarial leadership and company executives.

Solution

The specialist successfully completed cash flow projections and compiled their data. During this assignment, this expert suggested process improvements as needed, many of which were incorporated. This professional's supervisor reiterated multiple times how happy they were with his work.
